

Abstract

The invention concerns Eisenia foetida polypeptides and peptides, particularly recombinant polypeptides, which are useful in tumour therapy, microbial infection, inflammation or immunology.

The invention also relates to a process for preparing the above-mentioned polypeptides and peptides.

Furthermore the invention concerns nucleic acids coding for said polypeptides and peptides.

009799-10796660